Notes to Editor:

Listed on AIM in July 2010, the activities of Biome are split into two divisions; Bioplastics and Stanelco RF Technologies. Both divisions are underpinned by the Group’s skills in the commercialisation and development of innovative technology.

The Group's core strategy is to develop and broaden its bioplastics business organically and is engaged with a variety of large-scale international customers and partners on a number of key commercial and development partnerships. These target applications in the food, horticulture and the electronics markets, amongst others, further enhance the Group's existing and new product development.
